This is only an example of the lines to be used for determining annual Business or Farming income. Other income lines may also be used for other income depending on the household circumstances. Wages and other income should always be reported in current amounts unless the current amount is not typical.

Note that the “Adjusted Gross Income” IS NOT to be used because there may have been income deducted that USDA does not allow deducted for the Child Nutrition Programs. A business or farming loss becomes “0” and the amount is not deducted from other sources of income.
